Dear Pioneer Valley Community,

Spring typically brings about change. WMUA 91.1 FM is one place that feels the effects of the seasonal cycle. Fortunately here at WMUA our program schedule is, as always, full of divers and exciting radio shows. As we welcome in many new faces to our station we are proud that our strong staff and committed volunteers have worked hard at keeping a consistent and interesting schedule up and running 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days of the year.

For any new listeners finding out about WMUA, let me explain what we are about. Since our inception we have been dedicated t providing listeners with under-represented music of all genres, student-run news, and sports games from several of UMass' best athletic teams. Our public affairs DJ's reveal noteworthy issues from around the world, educating while entertaining. The uniqu ness of WMUA allows any listener to tune in at anytime and hear something fresh, different, and exciting. Our block programmin only hints at the true brilliances of each of our shows.

This spring, as I mentioned, will feature several new DJ's and exciting shows on our airwaves. Our website, wmua.org, holds a very important aspect of WMUA: an MP3 web stream. The website also has a program guide, play lists, contact information, and much more!

WMUA's existence would not be possible without all of the hard work of everyone here at WMUA. Our diverse programming is only a reflection of the people who have volunteered so much of their time to our station. Our on-air and behind the scenes staff consists of students, faculty, and members of the Pioneer Valley Community. WMUA is a great opportunity for people to ge hands-on experience in broadcasting. If you are interested in volunteering here, take a trip down to the UMass-Amherst Campus Center basement and jump on in. Send us an email. Anyone can get involved.

On behalf of WMUA's DJ's, administrative staff and faculty, as well as our countless volunteers, I would like to thank you for tuning into a rare gem in the world of radio. The country is ready to greet a new president. A historical time of change is upon us. Stay informed, entertained, and challenged by tuning i to 91.1 FM WMUA. You never know what you may hear!

Thank you,
Corey Charron
Program Director 08-09

About WMUA

Since November 21, 1948 when WMUA went on the air as a 10 watt carrier-current station at 650 AM, broadcasting from the 5th floor turret of South College on the campus of the University of Massachusetts, WMUA has grown to a vital media outlet serving the Pioneer Valley with alternative music, news and UMass sports.

WMUA moved to 91.1 on the FM band in 1952, making it one of the first college-run, non-commercial FM radio stations in New England. From 1956 to 1983, WMUA's home was Marston Hall, the University's engineering building. Since then, we've been broadcasting from our studios in the basement of the Campus Center. In 1973, the FCC granted WMUA an increase in power to 1,000 Watts, allowing us to broadcast to listeners within a 25 mile radius of Amherst, and since 1999 we have been streaming over the internet. In 2004 we went on-line with our new transmitter, with our old one remaining as a back-up. Because our new antenna location is 96 feet higher than its predecessor, WMUA-FM now broadcasts at 450 watts Effective Radiated Power, with no change in our service area.

What has not changed over the years is our twin mission to serve as a training facility for UMass undergraduates in all facets of radio, and to be a true alternative media outlet, supplying a dizzying variety of non-commercial music, unique public affairs and live UMass sports coverage. WMUA is run by UMass undergraduates and our on-air staff includes students as well as UMass faculty, staff, alumni and other community members. We invite you to get involved with WMUA, and please tune in and expand your world!
